Water Conditions in Area To Be Studied at SF Hearing

SACRAMENTO (WNS)—Major water problems of the Central Coast Area of California will be discussed at a meeting of the state water resources board to be held in San Francisco Friday.

The industrial water needs of San Francisco Bay Area and surrounding counties will be aired before the board, which will hold its session in the public utilites hearing room, State Building.

At the same time, the board will hear a request by the Merced stream group for an additional $175,000 to carry on rights-of-way work, and the Fresno stream group for $210,000 for a similar purpose.

The hearing with regard to the Bay Area water problems stems from a request of the state chamber of commerce for a detailed survey on usage, potential consumption, and sources of water.

The counties of San Francisco, Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Alameda, Santa Clara, Solano, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and Contra Costa are affected.

Principal subject of discussion will be whether or not the state water resources board should engage in a separate survey for the coast counties, or include the survey in a state-wide project the board has under way at the present time.

The present project was authorized by the 1947 legislature, which appropriated $140,000 to carry on the work. The project, it is estimated, will take several years to complete.

Representatives of water service concerns, boards of supervisors, and large water consumers in the area have been invited to attend the meeting.

School Stands Lost in Blaze

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the wooden grandstands Saturday night at Hillsborough District School. The loss was estimated at $1000 by William Palin, fire chief.

A passing motorist noticed the blaze in the playground area of the school at 303 El Cerrito Ave. and called the firemen.

The grandstands were almost completely consumed by the time firemen arrived but the adjoining building, a workshop, was saved.

Theft of Rose Plants From Cemetery Told

Roses smell sweet, even of they come from a cemetery grave.

Apparently that was the reasoning of the person who stole two rose bushes from Holy Cross Cemetery on Santa Cruz Ave., Menlo Park. J. T. McCarthy of San Jose reported to the sheriff's office over the weekend that the rose bushes were taken from his brother's grave sometime during the past week.

School Board Trims $32,810 From Budget In Compromise Vote

In a split vote, the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. Board of Trustees Friday night approved a $815, 842 budget, and cut the estimated tax rate from $1.43 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.30. The cut sliced $32,810 from the preliminary budget's capital outlay fund.

Trustee Cuthbert Currie put up a four-hour battle to slash the proposed $150,000 capital outlay fund to $88,500 and thus reduce the tax rate to $1.20 per $100. When the issue finally came to a vote, Currie demanded a roll call on the budget and cast the dissenting vote.

The new tax rate uses 40 cents out of the 60-cent special permissive tax approved recently by voters in the district.

The $815,842 budget shows a nearly 40 per cent increase over last year, not including the capital outlay fund. Two weeks ago the trustees sliced $39,000 from the fund and trimmed it to $150,000.

"I can't see this soaking the public just because we have the chance now," Currie declared. He said that the school could not possibly spend all its present building fund during the present year and that taking the full $150,000 would just be building up a reserve fund.

He said that additional money for building should come through a bond issue. "If we tax money for buildings, we are forcing schools down the people's throat whether they want them or not," Currie declared. "The people should have the right to decide that for themselves."

"We don't know just where we're headed," Trustee Harold Robbins answered. "If we don't provide for a cushion, we may not be able to get sufficient funds later."

Currie then moved that the capital outlay fund be cut from $150,000 to $88,500 thus dropping the tax rate from 1.43 to $1.20, but the motion died for lack of second.

Robbins and Trustee Louis Behrens both insisted that the district would need the additional money and that later in event of a depression, the district would not be able to get it, if it did not tax enough now.

Behrens proposed a compromise setting the tax rate at $1.30 and allowing for $1 5,000 in the capital outlay fund.

"My figure is a compromise figure," retorted Currie, "I believe we could have gotten along on the $.90 tax limit this year and setting a $1.20 tax rate would provide an ample cushion."

After two hours of discussion, Currie again proposed the $1.20 tax rate but the motion died.

Robbins then moved that the budget be adopted setting the tax rate at $1.30.

He declared that he had not been convinced that the district did not need the additional $27,500 and that the district's building needs were more than meet the eye.

Currie said that the other two members of the board could not defend the $1.30 figure on the basis of the statistics that had been presented to the board and asked for a roll call vote on the budget so that his negative vote would be recorded in the minutes.

The budget was approved by a vote of 2 to 1.

Social Club Bid Filed With Sheriff

An application to operate a "social club" in a Colma Chinese restaurant was filed today with Sheriff James J. McGrath.

The application stated the applicants plan to operate 11 card tables if the permit is granted.

Applying for the permit were Harry F. Lee, 45, Lee Look, 59, and John Sup Lee, 35, all of San Francisco. Jack K. Yow, 38, San Francisco, is operator of the restaurant, the Toa Yuen Restaurant, 910 Market St., Colma.

In order for the permit to be granted it must be approved by the building inspector, health department, fire department and the sheriff. Each applicant has to be fingerprinted and have his picture taken and if it is found the applicant has a criminal record the permit will be denied. In case the sheriff fails to grant the permit, the applicants can appeal to the board of supervisors.

Eight Chinese applied for permits to work at the club.

The application under which the Chinese applied comes under a social license ordinance put into effect by the supervisors last September.

Upon receipt of an application licensing card rooms, the sheriff must investigate the applicant.

Only two have been granted since the ordinance went into effect. One was at the extreme north end of the county and the other at the extreme south end.

RC Seaman Braves Gales To Reach England Safely

In the midst of a fierce gale that pounded and battered the coasts of Britain Sunday, Felix Brandsten, 68-year-old Redwood City sea rover safely guided his 22-foot converted lifeboat 'Adventurer' into the harbor at Falmouth, Cornwall.

Upon his arrival Brandsten immediately cabled his brother, Ernie Brandsten, "Arrived at Falmouth today after 62 days from Miami."

Brandsten, who left Redwood City late last October, accompanied only by his dog "Poochie," will soon sail on to Sweden where he plans to conduct a lecture tour speaking on his travels in the "Adventurer" along with moving pictures gathered on the way.

Ernie Brandsten, anxiously charting his brother's trek estimated that Felix averaged three knots a day over the 4320 nautical mile journey. From Miami to Falmouth. After a short layover in England, to fill take on fresh water and food, he said the sea rover will leave on the final leg of the trip; the 550 nautical mile sail to Sweden, which he estimated would take six days.

After leaving Redwood City, late October, Brandsten sailed down the coast to Acapulco, Mexico, through the Canal Zone and on to Florida. He left Miami early in June.

The trip to Europe fulfilled a lifetime ambition that took seed in Stockholm, Sweden when Felix was 5-years-old and first started sailing.

The weekend storm through which Brandsten safely rode into Falmouth left a widespread toll of death and destruction for others. British crops were flattened, and wide areas were flooded.

Damage at the French port of Brest alone was estimated at more than $330,000.

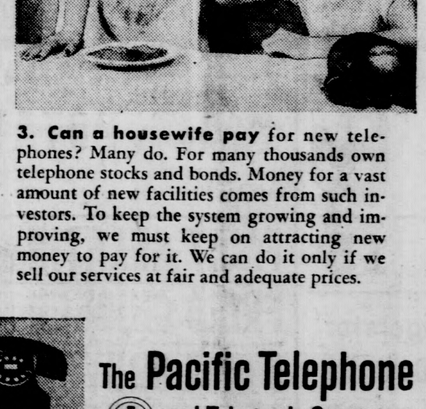
No Polio Scare Here: Dr. Chope

Dr. Harold Chope, county health director, today sought to put at ease persons who have been worried about polio cases reaching epidemic proportions in San Mateo County.

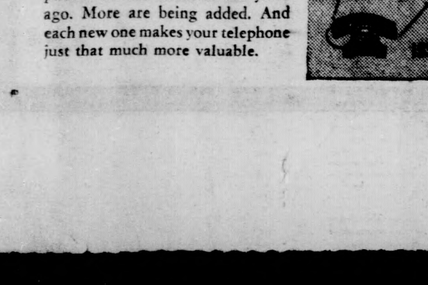
Dr. Chope said there have been 10 cases in the county this year, which he stated was "average." Last year there had been eight cases at this time. No extreme measures, such as closing swimming pools or entertainment houses, are planned, Dr. Chope declared.

He issued the statement today as several persons have inquired at his office about the infantile paralysis status.

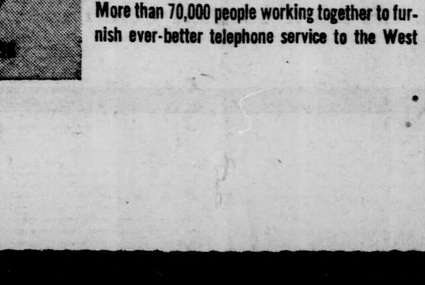
Who pays for new telephones?



1. This sight represents a lot of money. For the land, buildings, equipment, and wires needed to serve each new telephone cost us far more than prewar . . . just as the things you buy cost more. To meet the West's growing telephone needs we're putting more than half a million dollars to work every day.



2. This complex equipment can't be paid for out of telephone bills . . . it takes a lot of new money furnished by investors. But the telephone bill does play an important part. It covers wages and taxes and other costs of services and—when rates are fair and adequate—leaves a few cents profit to pay investors for the use of their money.



3. Can a housewife pay for new telephones? Many do. For many thousands own telephone stocks and bonds. Money for a vast amount of new facilities comes from such investors. To keep the system growing and improving, we must keep on attracting new money to pay for it. We can do it only if we sell our services at fair and adequate prices.

4. When you make a local call, your cost averages less than a nickel. For those few pennies you hire a mighty servant . . . a bigger servant than ever before. There will soon be twice as many telephones on the Coast as ten years ago. More are being added. And each new one makes your telephone just that much more valuable.

RC 'Lukewarm' On Sales Tax

Mayor W. M. (Bill) Werder said Saturday that he and City Mgr. E. A. Rolison planned to attend tomorrow night's session on a proposed sales tax for Peninsula cities, but that Redwood City was lukewarm on the proposition.

The mayor and city manager have been invited to the meeting in Menlo Park by Charles P. Burgess, mayor of that city.

Burgess invited chiefs of all Peninsula cities to his meeting, pointing out that the Peninsula Division of the League of California Cities recently endorsed a municipal sales tax.

Richard Graves, league official, had pointed out, however, that the sales tax, if decided upon, should be put in effect by all Peninsula cities at the same time.

The sales tax proposal grew out of an inflationary condition which finds most Peninsula cities strapped for money at a time when they are expanding and being called upon for more and higher priced services.

Werder noted that Redwood City is in a better financial condition than the other cities and actually doesn't need an additional source of revenue.

Cities are supported mainly by taxes on real property. Because in the past such properties can be subjected to only a $1 limit tax and because they have been assessed at a low figure, most cities have not been realizing enough money from this tax.

Elementary Board May Be Enlarged

The possibility of putting a proposal before the voters to enlarge the size of the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. Board of Trustees from three to five members was discussed Friday night at a meeting of the trustees.

Trustee Louis Behrens declared that he has favored enlarging the board for a number of years, even before the change was recommended by Dr. John C. Almack of Stanford University in his survey of the school district last year.

The trustees are considering holding a special election on the proposal on the same day as the November general election. Supt. Andrew Spinas pointed out that if the board votes to hold the special election, it would be necessary for candidates to run for the two new posts in the same election.

Spinas said that the term of office of one of the new trustees would run until the regular school year ends the following May, and the other term until May, 1950.

No official action on the proposal was taken by the board.

Spinas Friday night presented the board with a letter from David Oliver, chief of the property section of the Federal Works Administration, informing the board that the government had accepted the trustees' offer to purchase the child care center building at the McKinley School for $780.

Spinas said that the child care center building had been erected by the government at a cost of more than $20,000 and is used at present to house the state child care center.

He said that were the state program to be discontinued, the district would have the equivalent of three classrooms available.

"Boss wrangler" of all P. G. and E.'s electrical horsepower is the System Dispatcher who sits in front of this giant control board in Oakland. His word, spoken into a telephone, starts giant generators whirling at a hydro plant in the High Sierra or spins a turbine in a steam generating plant miles away. And when less power is needed his word stops the flow. For the Dispatcher keeps our vast system efficiently balanced to meet your demands every instant... to make P. G. and E.'s 3,000,000 horsepower do its work well for California.

When trouble strikes, the dispatcher's job gets hectic. He must call on other plants to increase their power output and make the service interruption, if any, as brief as possible.

Your breakfast toast is part of the dispatcher's responsibility. For he must make sure that our tremendous power output is working for you...as much as you need...when you need it.

FOR THE RECORD

The dispatcher's job will be nearly 2,000,000 horsepower bigger... as P. G. and E. rushes more post-war power to California at a cost of more than $400,000,000.

More than ⅓ of this new power will be serving you in less than a year.

New U.S. Bureau of Census Figures Indicate the Cost Of Municipal Government In Redwood City Above Average

Redwood City has a larger public payroll, in relation to its size, than do most cities in the United States of 10,000 population and over, according to figures just released by the Bureau of the Census.

On the local payroll are listed 183 employes, exclusive of teachers and other school workers, as of October, 1947, the month for which the comparisons are made. For the sample month they receive a total of $37,100 salary.

This outlay, if borne equally by all the residents of Redwood City, would come to $2.98 per capita. The cost compares with the $2.64 per capita averaged for municipal payrolls in the other 994 cities surveyed.

Municipal employment is generally on the increase, as it has been since the war ended, the Census Bureau finds. In Redwood City the number on the rolls rose 15.8 per cent in the year ending October, 1947. This was more than the national increase, 4.1 per cent.

Earnings of Redwood City employes are also going up, conforming to the national pattern. Exclusive of school personnel, local city workers averaged $203 a month compared with $175 a month the previous year. For the other cities, average wages were $182 a month, an increase from $168 of 1946.

Dolwig Speaks To Kiwanis Club

State Assemblyman Richard Dolwig addressed the luncheon of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club at the Three Owls restaurant yesterday. Dolwig discussed the composition and workings of the legislature, the constitutional amendment on Senate representation, standing committees lobbies, and the states right question.

He was introduced by Thom Rhorabough, program chairman. Pres. Fred Schimtz presided.

GARDEN: Canterbury Bells Blossom During Second Year

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

W. A. MacNeil has a question which may interest you. "I planted canterbury bells and foxglove last year which blossomed profusely this year. Would you please advise me as to whether I should pull them up or leave them in the ground?"

Canterbury bells usually produce good flowers the second year, and then peter out. So those should be left in for one more year. The foxglove, or digitalis, should also be continued, since it is a quite hardy perennial.

Lloyd B. Cunningham writes that a third of his backyard is planted to iris. "Of course they are an eye-sore a good part of the year, so I'm asking for suggestions on making iris beds presentable after the leaves have turned brown."

I should think the first thing to do would be to clip back two-thirds of the leaves. Any annual or perennial flowers put in would have their own off season and couldn't hide the iris all the time. However, chrysanthemums could be set in during late spring, and would take over with their foliage during summer and flowers in fall. If bedding plants were moved in during their seasons, it would be easy.

Mrs. I. A. Luke wants to know the best time to sow ranunculus seeds in order to have good strong plants to set out this fall. It's high time to plant them right now.

The American Association of Nurserymen have a new slogan —"Plant America." Richard P. White of the AAN presented an 11-point program to the Milwaukee convention to combine home and community beautification, reforestation, soil conservation and park development. Included were better planted farmsteads, landscaped schools, home and church gardens, improved site-planning of such community developments as parking areas and shopping centers, and a stepped-up drive for more and better home-park-community planting.

This is so much along the lines continually advocated in this column that I can only say to the nurserymen—more power to you, and be sure to follow through.

Mrs. B. Roderick writes: "I have several chrysanthemum plants growing in my yard. They are huge sprawling things but they never bloom. I would like to know when to prune them. Also, can I make new plants from the cuttings? If so, when do I start new plants?"

I'd keep the plants alive now with adequate water. This fall, when the foliage dies back, cut it off entirely. In the spring, when new shoots come up, make the cuttings for flowers next fall. It's quite a routine, and we'll go into more details when the right time comes. Right now, it's keep the plants moist. Especially any plants with buds on them should have constantly damp roots now.

"I have about two dozen fuchsias which I started from slips early in 1947," writes Mrs. Lois Ven. "This spring I pruned them back severely when you advised and now they have all developed a strong woody stem about six inches high—but alas! The foliage is sprawling all over the ground. What do I do now—prune them again, tie them up? Tell me."

Well, you can make more fuchsia cuttings right now, and root them in sand. Use half-ripened wood. Then put in stakes and tie your fuchsias up to them. With some of the cuttings you root now, you might start fuchsias in hanging baskets for next year.

You can cut back to keep the bushes in balance, but this shouldn't be done until you stake the plants and see how much is necessary.
